Short biography :

Professor Jacqueline Trouillas is currently Emeritus Professor of Medicine at University Lyon. She is endocrinologist, histologist-embryologist and pituitary pathologist. From 1996 to 2010, she was at the head of the laboratory of Histology at the Faculty of Medicine Laennec, Lyon, France and she bellowed to a research unit (INSERM 1028) of Neurosciences in Lyon.

Her main areas of research are the normal and tumoral pituitary and the immuno-histochemistry.

Since 1970, she has studied the clinical, pathological and molecular characteristics of more than 3500 pituitary tumors, to find prognostic factors.

She created a frozen bank of 500 tumors. She has published more than 160 original papers and she recently proposed a new prognostic classification of the endocrine pituitary tumors. She was a coordinator or an investigator of several French or European programs of research on pituitary tumors.

She is a member of the French and the European Societies of Endocrinology. She was one of the experts of the World Health Organization (WHO) classification of tumors of endocrine organs in 2004 and 2016. She was the cofounder of the International Pituitary Pathology Club in 1981 and of the European multidisciplinary postgraduate course of pituitary tumors (EUROPIT) in 2012.
